INTRODUCTION

THIS bibliography has been prepared in response to many requests for information regarding domestic agricultural migrants in the United States. It brings up to date the Bureau's 1956 publication, "Selected References on Migratory Workers and Their Families." The listings include materials from both governmental and nongovernmental sources, dating from 1955 to mid-1960. Inquiry regarding availability of materials desired should be addressed to the source indicated for each listing. For materials not listed, inquire at your local library.

References are listed according to their primary concern, unless they deal with many aspects of the subject, in which case they appear under the heading, "General." Only a few conference and organization reports and periodicals are cited specifically.

This revision was prepared by Gwen Geach, assisted by Martha Jane Mitchell, under the direction of Beatrice McConnell, Assistant Director, Bureau of Labor Standards.

Some of the organizations from which information on current programs and developments may be obtained are:
