

Harvest Sun Brings

At left, men and women migrant workers pick a bountiful crop of beans on a nearby Maryland farm. Above, the numbers label the entrance to two cubicles, the homes of two families who live in a former cowbarn. (C)

at Workers Scant Reward

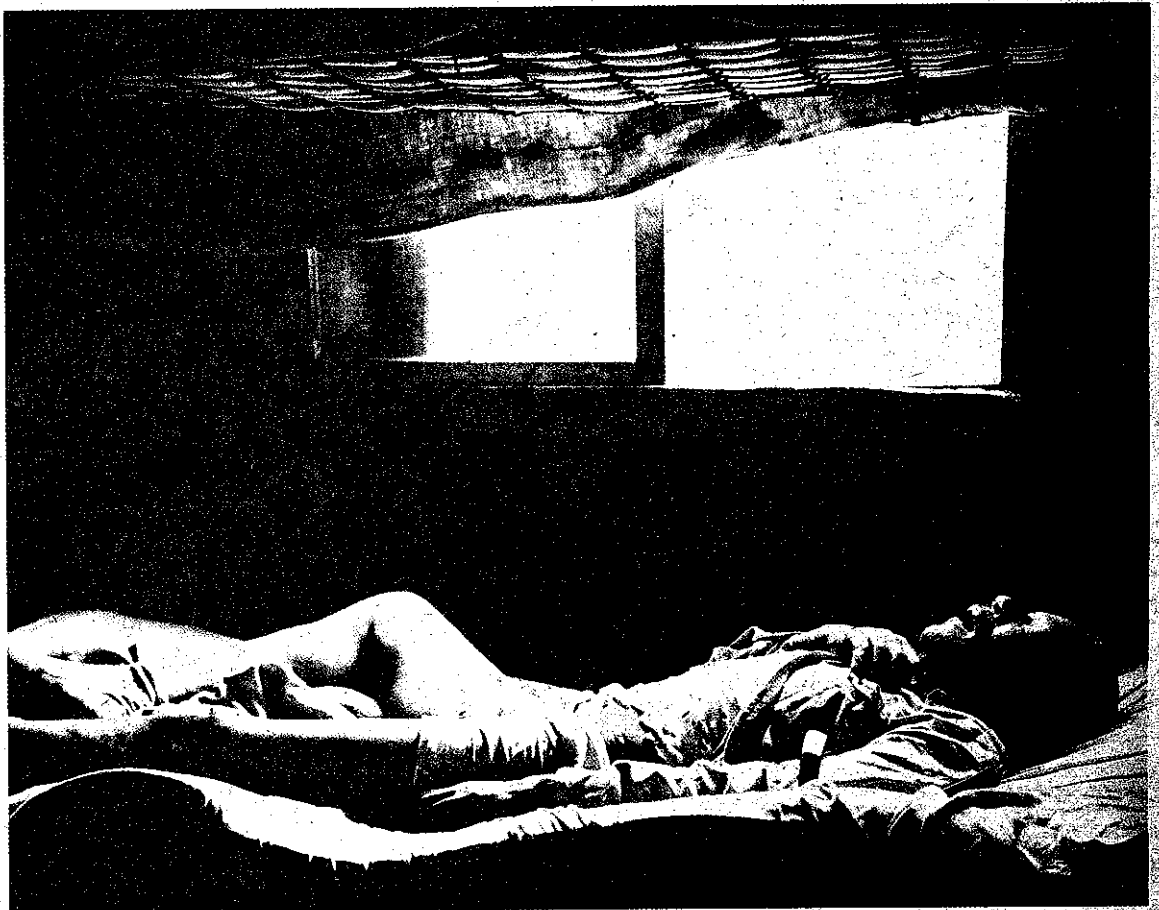

by Frederick County workers, some of the Maryland have reacted and no longer be condestined to live their re finally being pro-standing and help of ay that the problems must move with the eel secure.

ingham McDaniel, of that efforts to aid y because there was igrants' plight. This oss, 25, a student at ological Center at At-he Migrant Ministry l State Councils of nigrant families. His om and board for a a week. His stint is ys, with a prayer of e who made him feel as accomplished.

young people to help

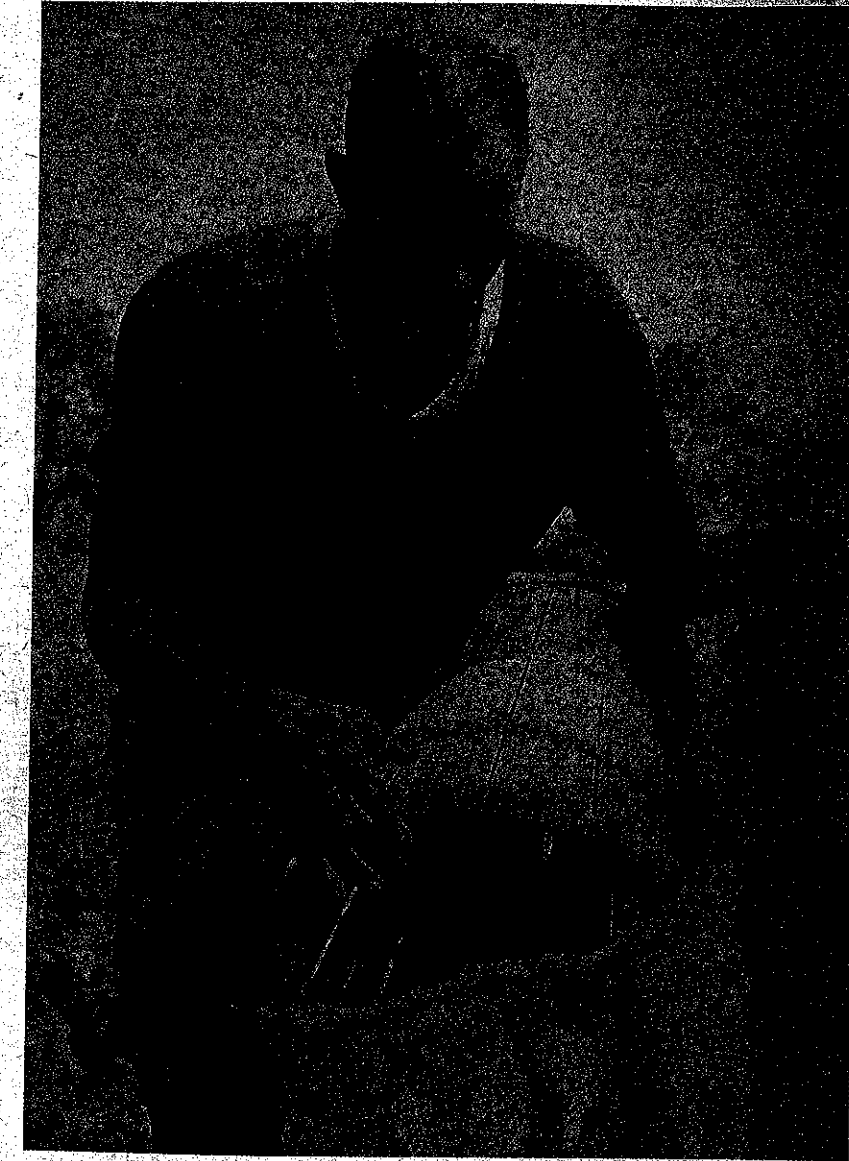

Continued

Above, a migrant worker who made the journey from Florida to Maryland on old school bus, rests on a straw bunk bed after the trip. Below left, a child sleeps while her mother does the weekly washing. Below, migrant boy tries on new boots given to him.

At left, a little migrant boy stands in the doorway of the camp's "recreation room." Below, a worker paid on a piecemeal basis, adds beans to his sack. At bottom left of page, view of typical camp kitchen.

The Outlook: More Leadership

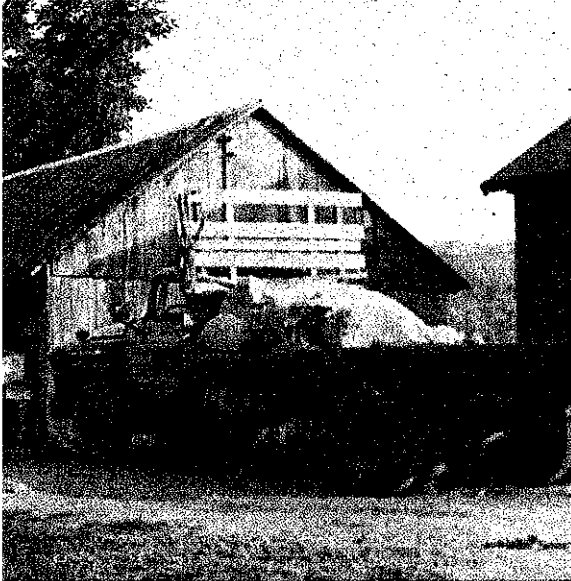

transform an old wagon shed in one migrant camp into a rudimentary sanctuary of crude board benches and a simple but graceful altar. The migrants' employer furnished the materials, the people of Frederick the tools.

When a migrant was involved in an ugly shooting incident in Frederick, a lawyer there offered to defend the man without fee.

When Mr. Ross mentioned that he wanted to begin making playgrounds for the children, a basketball, a backboard and some swings appeared.

County residents have paid dozens of visits to the grant workers—an old sleep in this building.

amp directed by a mil Council of Churches.

nderstanding

esting.
n per family, with a h sanitary facilities
ne rooms are in old cks, converted cow-cinderblock rows of

tion by the authori-ousing is good, come.
e. You can't compare t isn't what you or I
some of the housing

Back to School . . . At the Job—On Time!
LEATHER CASED TRAVEL ALARM

5.95
plus tax

Handsomely designed oval clock with imported movement, easy-to-read luminous dial. Encased in leather, bordered by golden metal for added wear.
Colors—red, brown, pigskin,
navy or black. Initialed free of charge.

AT ALL FOUR BECKERS STORES

1314 F Street N.W.

Wheaton Plaza • Prince Georges Plaza • Silver Spring

Di. 7-4454

GOURMETS' DELIGHT
for the discriminating Hostess
FULLY COOKED READY TO SERVE BONELESS SMOKED
TURKEY

BREAST ONLY
$3.99 lb.
5 lb. Average
FREE DELIVERY
Metropolitan Area
Made in Washington, D. C.

FINE LEATHER BRAND
GEORGE MAZUR Enterprises
77 Eye St. S.E. • WASH., D. C.

Phone LI. 3-1100

Next Sunday
Be sure to see

THE SPECIAL 1962

Here's the big kickoff to the season, with rosters, facts and figures about football 1962. And it's all